About Japan's Far East

Hokkaido's far east region is often described as the last unexplored frontier of Japan. This region is popular for wildlife and outdoor lovers in the summer. It is also renowned internationally in winter as a bird-watching destination.

On this tour, we will visit some of Hokkaido's beautiful national parks: Akan-Mashu and Kushiro Shitsugen National Park. We take in beautiful winter landscapes while hiking at our favourite locations, such as the outer rim of a caldera lake crater with marvellous views.

You don't have to be an experienced skier or snowboarder to enjoy Hokkaido's famous snowy winter. We will use snowshoes to hike through the snowy landscape, allowing anyone to enjoy Hokkaido's winter scenery.

Tour highlights

- Explore native forest surrounding Lake Kussharo, a winter home to Whooper Swans.
- Experience a volcanic landscape - from deep blue caldera lakes to active sulphur vents.
- Stay at Yoroushi Onsen, sometimes visited at night by large Blakiston's Fish Owls.
- Discover a variety of wildlife on the Notsuke Peninsula, registered as a Ramsar site.
- Visit a Red-crowned Crane sanctuary in Tsurui to observe Japan's most symbolic bird.

Who is this tour for?

- Active travellers who enjoy walking for 2 hours a day.
- Curious travellers who enjoy a mixture of activities and sightseeing and learning about the regions they visit.
- Winter hikers and snow lovers interested in hiking in snow with the help of snowshoes (no prior experience required).
- Adventurous travellers who enjoy rural hospitality, staying in Japanese style accommodations with natural hot springs on site.

7 Day Wild Winter Tour

Travel style

This tour includes a series of active experiences that while easygoing will still allow you to experience the great outdoors and work up a bit of a sweat! We will be outdoors in subzero temperatures for up to 4 hours at a time before returning to the van and travelling to the next stop. While it is cold outside, it will be warm in the van and indoors. This makes it easy to warm back up, but makes good layering important - make sure you check the packing list. Your luggage will stay in our van, freeing you up to enjoy the day's adventure with only a light day pack. There is also a focus on the region's wildlife and you will have multiple chances to catch a glimpse at some of Hokkaido's incredible migratory winter creatures.

Adverse weather

While we try to organise everything, mother nature is out of our control. If the weather is too bad to safely hike or snowshoe (such as during a snowstorm) we will travel to the next inn in our support vehicle. Along the way we will still stop at local restaurants and visit indoor facilities, so you can still experience the charm of the area while travelling safely and comfortably.

What's included

- 6 nights accommodation on a twin share basis
- 6 breakfasts, 5 lunches and 6 dinners
- Guided canoeing tour at Lake Toro
- Snowshoes & poles rental
- All transport as described in the itinerary
- English speaking local guide(s)

What's not included

- Airfare
- Travel insurance
- Personal expenses
- Drinks with included meals

Japan's Far East

7 Day Wild Winter Tour

When do you run this tour?

We run this tour in the winter months December, January and March. Winter is a magical time of year in Hokkaido, and the only time of year when you can see many migratory species. Snowfall is of course weather-dependent and we can never be sure exactly when it will fall, but it is a safe bet that by late December, Hokkaido will be blanketed in its characteristic pure white snow. Temperatures by the end of the month also start to get low enough that you have a chance of encountering beautiful natural phenomena like rime ice in the early mornings.

What makes Hokkaido's winter special?

The Snow

Every winter, cold winds from Siberia pick up moisture as they cross the Sea of Japan before dropping it as snow on Hokkaido. The snow falls as big, light snowflakes, the kind you see in the movies, blanketing the landscape in white. If the snows fall thick enough before our tour, then many of the routes we will explore can be done by snowshoe rather than on foot. Hiking in the snow, you will feel like you are in a private snow globe; the sense of stillness and solitude is hard to describe without experiencing it for yourself.

The Wildlife

While Brown Bears are tucked away in hibernation, many other animals are active throughout winter – Mountain Hares and Red Foxes leave a network of footprints behind as they search for food, Japanese Deer joust with each other in the coastal reeds and Red-crowned Cranes soar overhead. Seeing the animals against a stark white background is a striking winter image.

Hot Springs & Warm Welcomes

It may be cold outside but step into one of Hokkaido's many cosy restaurants or lodges, and you are greeted with a warm local welcome. Tuck into a bowl of world-famous Hokkaido ramen or a local hot pot. Later, strip off and slip into a steaming hot spring to warm up your body and soothe your tired muscles. For a truly unique winter experience, brave the dash through the snow to the "rotenburo" outdoor pool.

Day to Day Itinerary

Day 1 - The group assembles in Abashiri City

We will meet at our hotel at 6:00 pm near JR Abashiri Station in Abashiri, the largest city on Hokkaido's eastern Sea of Okhotsk coast. Once everyone is gathered, we will set off for dinner in downtown Abashiri. Over dinner, We will get to know each other and introduce the program for our upcoming adventure. For those who aren't used to walking on icy roads, we will introduce you to the penguin-walking technique!

Day 2 – Explore Lake Kussharo, Akan–Mashu National Park

We will have breakfast at our hotel and drive just over 1 hour to Lake Kussharo, one of the caldera lakes forming Akan–Mashu National Park. We will explore some sections of the lakeshore and will walk through old-growth forest, taking in the view across the lake towards Nakajima Island and Mt. Mokoto.

Along the way we will discover natural hot springs and warm patches of ground, heated by volcanic activity. Whooper Swans congregate in these spots during winter to try and stay warm - we will spend some time watching the swans before heading to a relaxed late lunch in a local cafe.

We will then spend the afternoon exploring Kawayu Onsen, the local town. Kawayu means "hot-spring river" in Japanese and true to its name, the town has a hot river running through it. We can stop by the local visitor centre to learn more about the National Park.

Our accommodation is located in the onsen town. We'll dine at our accommodation and we highly recommend enjoying the famous hot spring baths.

Day 3 – Explore Mt. Iozan and Lake Mashu, Akan–Mashu National Park

After breakfast at our hotel, we set off for an active volcano, Mt. Iozan. Depending on snow cover, we will either walk or snowshoe through old forest and low shrubland before reaching the barren foot of the mountain. The Ainu call the peak Atosanupuri, which means "bare mountain". The Japanese name, "Iozan" means "Sulphur Mountain" and once we reach the base of the peak, we can see bright yellow sulphur deposits around steaming vents.

We travel on to the Lake Mashu viewpoint. Lake Mashu sits deep in a volcanic caldera and provides a stunning view of deep blue water lapping at the bottom of the cliffs. We will hopefully catch sight of some wildlife, as well as Mt. Mashu across the lake. After exploring the local omiyage (souvenir) offerings, we will drive to a local restaurant for lunch.

If we want to walk off lunch, we can stretch our legs in a local park home to ducks, swans and occasionally Red-crowned Cranes, before driving to our accommodation. We will stay at Yoroushi Onsen, which has not only excellent hot springs but also a river running by the lodge where one or two Blakiston's Fish Owls sometimes come to feed at night.

Day 4 – Explore Notsuke Peninsula, a Ramsar site

Notsuke Peninsula is Japan's largest sand spit extending over 26 km into the Sea of Okhotsk. Registered by the Ramsar Convention, the peninsula is of ecological significance to the migrating birds and wildlife of Hokkaido.

After breakfast at our accommodation in Yoroushi Onsen, we will drive for over an hour to the Notsuke Peninsula. We will explore the area on foot and hopefully see some of Hokkaido's iconic land mammals such as Japanese Deer and Red Foxes. After the walk, we will return to our hotel at Yoroushi Onsen where we can again relax in the river side hot-springs and have another chance of seeing the rare Blackiston's Fish Owl.

Day 5 – Visit the Red-crowned Crane Sanctuary in Tsurui

This morning we will head back inland and slowly make our way to Tsurui. The drive passes through beautiful rolling farmland. If time allows, we will stop off for an early lunch just outside Tsurui.

Tsurui is famous for its role in the recovery of the Red-crowned Crane population. The number of cranes has rebounded to almost 2000 after dropping to less than 20 in the early 1900s. The Tsurui Ito Red-crowned Crane

Sanctuary has played a big part in this by feeding the cranes over winter, when their natural food sources are scarce. We will spend some time at the Sanctuary watching the cranes feed and socialise.

Tsurui isn't just about cranes– after the sanctuary we will head out to explore the surrounding area and try to track down eagles feeding along the rivers and owls sleeping in the forest. We will return to Tsurui in time to catch the cranes flying back to their evening roost before heading to our hotel.

Day 6 – Explore Kushiro-Shitsugen National Park

If you do not mind getting up early, we'd like to take you to a place called Otowa Bridge before sunrise (about 6:30 am) to see the cranes along the Setsuri River. The river is a popular nesting site for the Red-crowned Cranes and the bridge provides a spectacular sighting of the birds before their departure to the day's feeding sites.

We return to our hotel for breakfast and leave for Lake Toro, where we will wrap up warm and enjoy a canoeing adventure through the Kushiro wetland. Taking to the water in sub-zero temperatures may seem unusual, but it gives us a unique perspective of the winter landscape. The trees lining the river bank are beautifully covered in snow and ice, offering unique photography opportunities from the water.

This particular location is a habitat for Common Kingfishers and Crested Kingfishers. After 1.5 hours of canoeing, we will warm up in a nearby cafe for lunch. On our way to Kushiro, we'll stop by a wetland observatory to take in the vastness of Kushiro Shitsugen and wrap up our journey. We will celebrate the completion of our tour over dinner in downtown Kushiro.
